MOOG: easy to trust, unquestioned OE quality

MOOG axial rods are relied upon by manufacturers and the aftermarket to ensure smooth, responsive steering and excellent durability. Axial rods are steering parts that form the connection between the steering rack and tie rod end. They transmit axial forces to the tie rod end and allow the wheels to turn. MOOG gaiter kits are high quality chassis parts manufactured from high-grade premium rubber to match OE standards. They create an excellent seal and protection against corrosion and wear. In this way, MOOG always offers a part you fully trust.

All new MOOG range: axial rod & gaiter kits

MOOG axial rods are forged from high quality material and heat treated to achieve the optimum grain structure. This ensures our axial rod & gaiter kits:

- are robust and hard wearing
- achieve excellent durability
- provide additional responsiveness to the steering

Advantages of our axial rod & gaiter kits:

- convenient as they give the installer all the necessary components for the repair
- by replacing all components at the same time, you can guarantee a superior quality repair that is achieved in less time than with separate visits to the workshop
- reduction in inventory and in shelf space required to stock
- a superior quality product backed up with the MOOG 3 year guarantee
